Doing More with Every Agent

How intelligent automation lightens the contact-centre workload — so human agents handle less busywork and deliver more value.

Call-centre teams are drowning in repetitive work

Every call still starts the same way — greeting, identifying the caller, working out what they need, then manually logging and routing it. That is time agents do not spend actually helping customers.

70%

of an agent's time goes on triage, data entry and routing — not resolution

Long

queues build while callers repeat their details to multiple people

Missed

SLAs and lost sales leads when hand-offs fall through the cracks

The opportunity: remove the busywork, and the same team can handle more — and handle it better.

One platform that takes the load off agents

AI voice agent

“Nadia” greets every caller, understands the need and logs it automatically.

Smart routing

Tickets reach the right team instantly, by predefined rules — no manual sorting.

SLA on autopilot

Turnaround timers, reminders and escalations run themselves before any breach.

Sales captured

Promising enquiries convert to pipeline deals in one click — nothing slips.

The result: agents stop sorting and typing, and start resolving and selling.

From call to the right team – automatically

No agent has lifted a finger yet — the call is greeted, understood, logged and routed on its own.

The ticket runs to a deadline – and never lets it slip

Turnaround promise, kept automatically. The timer, the reminders and the escalation all run by themselves — agents are nudged in time, managers see breaches coming, and the customer is told the moment it's done.

Spotted a real opportunity? It flows straight to sales

Nothing is lost between "support call" and "sales opportunity" — the hand-off is instant and tracked.

Secure, multi-tenant sign-in

One front door

- Each customer organisation gets its own isolated, secure workspace
- Branded login per workspace
- Role decides exactly what each person sees once inside

One unified customer record

Every caller, in context

- Contacts (here “Account Holders”) with status & source at a glance
- Search and filter instantly
- Tickets, deals and history tied to the same person

Companies & accounts

The bigger picture

- Organisations linked to their people and deals
- Sector-aware fields
- A complete relationship view, not scattered spreadsheets

Fast, guided data capture

The screenshot displays the Vivid Solutions & Services CRM interface. On the left is a dark sidebar with navigation options: CRM, Contacts, Companies, Deals, Activities, Emails, Analytics, VOICE, Voice Calls, Call Analytics, and Messaging. The main area shows a list of account holders with a modal form titled 'New Account Holder' for the 'Banking' sector. The form is divided into 'BASIC INFORMATION' and 'DETAILS' sections. Required fields are marked with an asterisk (*). The 'BASIC INFORMATION' section includes First Name, Last Name, Email, Phone, Status (set to 'lead'), and Source (set to 'Manual'). The 'DETAILS' section includes Customer Type, Account Number, Account Type, Branch Name, IFSC / SWIFT Code, KYC Status, Customer Since (with a date picker), Preferred Contact, and National ID / PAN. At the bottom of the form are 'Cancel' and 'Create Account Holder' buttons. A 'Call Nadia' button is visible in the bottom right corner of the interface.

Call Nadia

Capture once, cleanly

- Sector-specific form (banking shown) with the right fields
- Required fields enforce data quality
- What the bot captures lands here automatically

Sales visibility for managers

Revenue at a glance

- Receivables, collections and invoice status live
- Top customers and ageing surfaced automatically
- Each manager sees only their own team's numbers

Less busywork. More delivered.

Agents focus on people

Greeting, triage, logging and routing are automated — agents spend their time resolving and selling.

Faster, kept promises

SLA timers, reminders and escalations run themselves, so deadlines are met without manual chasing.

No lost opportunities

Sales enquiries convert to pipeline deals instantly — and managers see exactly what's in play.

Same team, more output

Removing the repetitive load lets the existing team handle more volume, with better quality.

Automation does the repetitive work — your people do the work that matters.

Built to let every agent deliver more.
